6. Transfer of Knowledge

e-Resource

The college has established a dynamic ecosystem that promotes innovation and facilitates the exchange of knowledge. As part of its initiatives, the college has actively fostered the transfer of knowledge through various means.

Transfer of Knowledge: The college has curated a collection of Open Educational Resources (OER) links, ensuring easy access to valuable educational materials. These resources encompass a wide range of subjects, including specialized courses such as the Ethics and Value Course and Computer Learning Course. By providing these links, the college empowers learners to explore and expand their knowledge beyond the traditional classroom setting.

Institutional repository: Recognizing the importance of comprehensive study materials aligned with the syllabus, the college has developed a drive that contains a plethora of class notes. These class notes are specifically designed to cover the syllabus, offering students a consolidated resource for their studies. By curating and organizing these class notes, the college aims to enhance the learning experience and facilitate better understanding and retention of the subject matter.

Through these initiatives, the college demonstrates its commitment to creating an environment that fosters innovation and knowledge exchange. By leveraging Open Educational Resources and providing curated class notes, the college empowers learners with the tools they need to excel in their educational journey.
